

LIBRARY RESOURCES VIA THE INTERNET

DIRECTORIES: Are you looking for a specific subject? Searching through a directory will be faster!

Galaxy – galaxy.com

Open Directory Project – dmoz.org

Yahoo! Directory – dir.yahoo.com

NEWSPAPER DIRECTORIES: Need a newspaper article? This site will link you to all 50 states and then some. These sites will allow you to pull up the front page of any given newspaper and has a link to the newspaper's website.

newseum.org/todaysfrontpages newslink.org

newspaperlinks.com/voyager.cfm

SEARCH ENGINES: Use a search engine when you are not sure of your subject. A search engine will search the entire WWW for the keyword you enter.

alltheweb.com

google.com

altavista.com

msn.com

ask.com

yahoo.com

ADDITIONAL LINKS TO TRY:

highbeam.com – access to or 60 million articles and 3,500 publications. A password is need. Please see the librarian for the password.

infoplease.com - links to dictionaries, encyclopedias and more jpl.org - links to dictionaries, encyclopedias, literary biographies and more libraryspot.com

or virtuallibrary.com

merriam-webster.com -dictionary

50states.com - Need to find information about your state? You can find out when it became a state, the song, state bird, famous people who were born in that state and so much more!

nationalgeographic.com - Need information about animals? Need science information? This is the site for you! (It was very helpful with the 3rd grade Science project.)

loc.gov - This is the link to the Library of Congress